David L. Schindler is the foremost American participant in the Communio movement in Catholic theology. Over the last thirty-five years, his profound theological and ontological vision has led him to probe our most urgent cultural problems to their deepest metaphysical roots, comprehensively evaluating them in the light of Trinitarian faith.

10/6/2011 · In Being Holy in the World Nicholas Healy and D. C. Schindler present the first book-length study of David L. Schindler's thought, compiling essays by twelve scholars that examine Schindler's Trinitarian theology, ecclesiology, anthropology, and metaphysics in the context of the encounter between Christianity and contemporary culture.

With reference to this particular phrase David L. Schindler has argued that “the root meaning of the ‘legitima autonomia’ finds its proper meaning in an analogy of being based on the descent of God into the world” and, further, that “the organic relation between the Trinity and the creature established in Jesus Christ does not reduce creaturely autonomy but rather grants it a new ...

nary (ATS) faculty—the collection coming from consultations organized by ATS’s Center for the Study of World complexity: the relation of theology and philosophy in Karl Christian Revitalization—voices across the evangelical and Barth’s theology—an ambiguous relation that has been ecumenical spectrum speak through these pages.

8/10/2014 · There are a number of reasons why it could be said, albeit from different perspectives, that the Swiss theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar (1905–1988) occupies a unique place among the great thinkers of the twentieth century. From the point of view of sheer literary volume, he is almost alone in the sheer monumental proportions of his written corpus. ...

The world is not simply an assembly of parts having external relations to each other, like a watch, or a steam engine. There is an interior relation, a “constitutive” relation, of each and every thing to God. The point is explored by David L. Schindler in a recent Communio essay, “The Given as Gift”.<sup>[14]</sup> Thus Schindler writes:

16/9/2015 · It can be used for objects (a holy altar), time (a holy day), or persons (a holy priest). All believers are set apart for God, and are therefore made holy (or sanctified, which has the same meaning). We see this for example in 1 Corinthians 6:11: “But you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.”
