1923) 2 Chapter 1 Introduction ... attempt at reconciling science and Christianity. Modern liberalism may be criticized (1) on the ground that it is un-Christian and (2) on the ground that it is unscientific.

A century after Machen penned Christianity and Liberalism, the liberal threat to the Church is more widespread. The Liberalism of Machen's day rejected Christian doctrine, but retained Christian teaching on how people should live (ethics). However, since the sexual revolution of the 1960s, liberals now reject Christian ethics
