25/2/2017 · Color management maintains color in a consistent manner by mapping the color numbers in one color space to the color numbers in a different color space, taking corrective measures when the source color space and the destination color space have different gamuts (those measures depend on colorimetric intent stated for the conversion, and on particular the implementation of that intent).

Photography beginners, I will walk you through the 10 step process of taking sharp photos like a professional. It covers everything from choosing the right aperture and shutter speed to shooting in RAW. It's pretty easy to make only a few small mistakes which will result in less sharp images. That's why we cover all ten in order of importance.
