Brave New World Literary Analysis. In the dystopian novel Brave New World by Aldous Huxley, a major issue is displayed over the extreme obsession with society's stability created by fear of humanity's flaws. Huxley's novel shows that a government controlled society often becomes too controlling, resulting in loss of freedom in the people.

The book, This Brave New World: India, China, and the United States contains significant analyses. The comparison of the two Asian powers is only rarely made in other books, so it gives the audience the opportunity to understand two Asian powers as a whole.

This paper investigates the scale and scope of emerging donors, many of which are developing economies themselves. Annual aid flows from new donors (so-called non-DAC donors) vary greatly and are somewhere between $11 billion and $41.7 billion, or 8 and 31 percent of global gross ODA. The new donors are not a monolithic group but instead represent three distinct models of aid delivery ...
