28/1/2020 · General Medical Council | 05 Good medical practice 5 In Good medical practice, we use the terms 'you must' and 'you should' in the following ways. 'You must' is used for an overriding duty or principle. 'You should' is used when we are providing an explanation of how you will meet the overriding duty. 'You should' is also used where the duty or principle will not

This chapter discusses the principles of family medicine. Family physicians are committed to the person, rather than to a particular body of knowledge, group of diseases, or special technique; they seek to understand the context of the illness, and they view every contact with their patients as an opportunity for the prevention of disease or the promotion of health.
