12/4/1998 · Works of Love, the midpoint in the series, is also the monumental high point, because of its penetrating, illuminating analysis of the forms and sources of love. Love as feeling and mood is distinguished from works of love, love of the lovable from love of the unlovely, preferential love from love as the royal law, love as mutual egotism from triangular love, and erotic love from self-giving love.

In Works of Love offense is the natural reaction of human sensibility in the face of self-renunciation, that human love is actually self-love. We are offended to learn that God does not need us, and that he loves us not because we are loveable, but because
